Arab Terms Indicated
New York Times (1857-Current file); May 25, 1948; ProQuest Historical Newspapers The New York Times (1851 - 2002)
pg. 7

footing Arab Governments working for peace in Palestine and Jewish gangs that have no legal status and whose pledges have no guarantee," al Zemane said.

The Arab governments have contended that they are not waging war but are engaged in a "police action" to protect Arab residents of the Holy Land.

Harold Evans of Philadelphia, the United Nation's newly appointed commissioner for Jerusalem reached Cairo by plane today.

He conferred with Kendall Kimberland, the Chase National Bank representative in the Middle East, who went to Jerusalem recently for the American Friends Service Committee to try to arrange a truce.

Arab Terms Indicated

CAIRO, Egypt, May 24 (AP) — Arab spokesmen indicated today that the Arab nations would agree to a truce only if the Israeli Army were disbanded and the Palestine partition plan shelved.

An Arab League official said:

"The [Security] Council's cease-fire order is surely an attempt to give the Jews time to strengthen themselves and receive foreign help. If this huge machine which the Arabs have set in motion is stopped, it will never work so smoothly again. The Arabs therefore must continue their present course."

As a condition for compliance with the cease-fire order, he said, the Arabs will require the expulsion from the Holy Land of members of the Israeli Army who are not of Palestinian nationality.

The newspaper al Zemane said that the cease-fire order was not imperative because the United Nations Charter made no provision for specific measures in case such an order was not obeyed. Precedents for non-obedience were set, the newspaper added, in the Netherland-Indonesian conflict and in the fighting in Greece.

"This order has put on equal

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.