Agreement Signs Absent

CAIRO, Egypt, July 9 (AP)— In Tel Aviv, Moshe Shertok, Israeli Foreign Minister, announced that he had received the appeal from Count Bernadotte.

There was no hint as to the Israeli attitude on the new suggestion.

Count Bernadotte said he planned to return to the Middle East within a matter of days for the purpose of resuming efforts at mediation.

Count Bernadotte's surprise visit to King Abdullah lasted an hour. It was known that United Nations officials in Amman had tried to get in touch with the Count for Abdullah but he had not gone to Amman before the truce ended, probably because faulty communications had held up the invitation.

Says Truce Was Discussed

After the conference with King Abdullah, Count Bernadotte said they discussed "many things, including the prospects of another truce in Palestine."

Foreign diplomats in Amman said the King and the Count discussed the "fundamentals of a permanent Palestine solution."

It was assumed there that this meant they talked about Count Bernadotte's original plan for peace. This plan would extend Abdullah's borders to the Arab-held sections of Palestine. The Israeli and Arab states formed in the old Palestine mandate would be bound in an economic union with a common council governing it.

The Mediator said he had discussed with Abdullah the prospect of averting new fighting in Jerusalem and demilitarizing the city. He said he still was hopeful.
