Cairo Weighs Action
By DANA ADAMS SCHMIDTSpecial to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
New York Times (1857-Current file); Jul 15, 1948; ProQuest Historical Newspapers The New York Times (1851 - 2002)
pg. 14

Cairo Weighs Action

By DANA ADAMS SCHMIDT
Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 14—Abdul Rahman Azzam Pasha returned to Cairo this afternoon after consultations with King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, the Premiers of Lebanon and Syria and other Arab leaders and immediately reported to King Farouk at Abdin Palace. He is secretary general of the Arab League.

What has happened at the meetings of the past two days remained a mystery, but there were indications that the immediate effect of the threat of United Nations sanctions contained in the United States proposal for a truce order had been to stiffen the public statements of Arab leaders. Even the best informed Middle Eastern experts were in doubt as to the next move of Arab political leaders —whether they would be willing to renew the truce, whether this was at present possible from an internal political viewpoint and, if so, on what conditions.

It might be said that development of extreme pressure on the Arabs to cease fighting has created a situation in which the Arabs could plead "force majeur" and back down. But as yet no spokesman to make such a plea has appeared.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.