MRS. HAAS IN FROM CAIRO

Widow of American Who Was Stoned to Death Won't Talk

Mrs. Kathryn Haas of Philadelphia, widow of Stephen Haas, the American who was stoned to death in Cairo, Egypt, this week, was one of twenty-five passengers who arrived at 10:20 o'clock last night at La Guardia Field on a Transworld Airlines plane from Cairo.

She would not speak to reporters. She was met by seven persons, none of whom would give his name. One said to a reporter: "I'm going to take her and drive her away where none of you fellows can get at her."
