Egypt Voices Concern

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Abdul Rahmin, Egyptian Ambassador, said today that his Government and people were very much concerned over the slaying of Sister Anthony.

"An investigation is still going on," he said, "and we hope soon the results will be published for the whole world to see."

Meanwhile, he said, the Egyptian Government was being hampered in its inquiry by the presence of "the British trespassers."
