CAIRO EXTREMISTS OPPOSE SUEZ PACT
Special to The New York Times.
New York Times (1857-Current file); Aug 4, 1954; ProQuest Historical Newspapers The New York Times (1851 - 2002
pg. 5

CAIRO EXTREMISTS OPPOSE SUEZ PACT

Moslem Brotherhood Assails Ban on Publishing Its View —Nasser Hails U. S. Aid

Special to The New York Times.

CAIRO, Aug. 3—The Moslem Brotherhood, fanatical and sometimes terrorist, religious organization, proclaimed today its opposition to all aspects of the recently concluded British-Egyptian agreement on the Suez Canal zone.

The Brotherhood challenged the Government to permit publication of its arguments attacking the proposed accord with Britain.

Leaders of the Brotherhood circulated a memorandum outlining the organization's views to the Cairo newspapers but they were not permitted to print it. The Brotherhood, proscribed and dissolved by Egypt's ruling military junta early this year and permitted to re-form in May on a promise to refrain from political activity, is now reported to be cooperating with the National Front, a clandestine organization opposing the Government of Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, the Premier.

Most foreign observers are agreed that for the present at least the regime appears to be quite capable of carrying out its obligations under the recent agreement and keeping the opposition in check.

United States aid is expected to be applied for soon to help stabilize internal conditions.

The Moslem Brotherhood memorandum on the Suez Canal zone could be summarized as an appeal for jihad—holy war—to oust the British forces from the zone by force rather than by negotiation.

This is obvious and bald demagoguery, in the opinion of most competent observers.

Two of the four British-Egyptian committees set up to draft the detailed agreement on Suez met for the first time today. They were the ones dealing with the evacuation schedules and with reorganization of the vast military base under the new conditions.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.