Decision Pleases Egypt

Special to The New York Times.

CAIRO, Aug. 30—The British Government's decision to lift its embargo on arms shipments to Egypt was greeted here with satisfaction as further evidence of increasing confidence between the two countries.

The decision was communicated to Dr. Mahmoud Fawzi, Egyptian Foreign Minister, by Sir Ralph Stevenson, British Ambassador, when they met this morning as members of a Steering and Drafting Committee preparing a formal agreement covering the terms of the British evacuation from the Suez Canal zone.
