CENSURE OF EGYPT ASKED
Special to The New York Times.
New York Times (1857-Current file); Dec 8, 1954; ProQuest Historical Newspapers The New York Times (1851 - 2002) pg. 11

CENSURE OF EGYPT ASKED

Publisher of Banned Paper Calls for Action by U. N.

Special to The New York Times.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 7—The United Nations was asked today to condemn the Egyptian Government for its suppression of Al Misri, one of the leading newspapers in the Middle East.

In a letter to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, the paper's publisher, Mahmoud Aboul Fath, now in exile in Switzerland, said the Egyptian Government, in suppressing his paper, had committed "an act of violence against the free press of the world."

Mr. Fath, whose paper was suspended May 5 of this year, said in a "White Paper" that the action against his paper was "political." His letter added: "I respectfully submit that as in national security the United Nations is gradually recognizing that an aggression against one nation is an aggression against al, an act of violence against an independent newspaper in any country is an act of violence against the free press of the world."

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.