Egyptian Officials Silent

Special to The New York Times.

CAIRO, Feb. 25—The Egyptian Government officially was silent today after the signing in Baghdad of the Turkish-Iraqi defensive alliance, which Egypt had fought for six weeks to block.

The semi-official newspaper Al Gomhouria quoted a "high responsible source" as saying that Egypt would summon a new meeting of Arab Premiers and, in effect, ask them to choose between Egypt and Iraq as allies.
