CAIRO, March 3 — Egypt's Premier warned today that she would not depend on the United Nations for defense of her frontiers. Egypt will meet force with force, he said.

[At United Nations headquarters in New York, Israel Thursday asked the Security Council to act on countercharges that Egypt had violated the armistice. Her charges followed Egypt's complaint in the Gaza clash.]

"I heard Israel threaten us yesterday," the Egyptian Premier, Lieut. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, declared. "If they want a battle today we'll give them a harsh lesson." Security Council and Israel's allies who plotted against Arab nationalism. It was not Israel that won a victory nor did the Egyptian Army lose it. The army was the victim of treachery and the armistice.

"If Israel is again counting on her allies, let her know that the army commanded by General Amer is not the army of yesterday. It is 1955 now, not 1948."

The Premier issued his warning to cheering cadets at a flag presentation ceremony at the Egyptian Military Academy. The Israeli threat to which he referred was a statement yesterday by Premier Moshe Sharett to the effect that if Egypt insisted on maintaining a technical state of war with Israel, she must face the consequences, including armed clashes.

Mr. Sharett's statement followed the clash in Gaza Monday night in which thirty-eight Egyptians and Palestinians were killed and thirty-three wounded in a night attack and ambush two miles within Egyptian-controlled territory. [The Egyptian complaint filed in the United Nations gave the total of dead as thirty-nine.]
