New York Times (1857-Current file); Mar 23, 1955; ProQuest Historical Newspapers The New York Times (1851 - 2002)
pg. 6

U. S. 'IMPARTIALITY' IN NEAR EAST URGED

A plea for "impartiality" by the United States in its dealings with the Arab states and Israel was made yesterday by Rabbi Irving Miller, chairman of the American Zionist Council.

He also urged the Security Council of the United Nations to "wait until all the facts are known" about recent border clashes in the Gaza region of Egypt.

He spoke in the Shelton Hotel at the annual meeting of the council, which is the public relations arm for 750,000 persons in the American Zionist movement.

Dr. Nahum Goldman, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, asserted that Israel's political situation would remain critical "until the Western powers begin to drive courageously and imaginatively toward the goal of an Arab-Israel peace."

I. L. Kenen, executive director of the American Zionist Committee for Public Affairs, announced that Zionists would try in the next few weeks to place their views on the dispute before members of Congress. Rabbi Philip Bernstein of Rochester, chairman of the American Zionist Committee for Public Affairs, also spoke.

The delegates representing the council's eight constituent organizations re-elected Rabbi Miller as chairman. Vice chairmen are Rabbi Mordecai Kirshblum, president of the Mizrachi Organization of America, and Ralph Wechsler, a member of the presidium of the Labor Zionist Organization of America (Paole Zion).

Charles Bick was elected treasurer; Paul Goldman, secretary, and Rabbi Jerome Unger, executive director.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.