ISRAEL CALLED VIOLATOR

Group Here Bids Government to Support Egypt

The board of directors of American Friends of the Middle East declared last night that Israel was guilty of a "calculated violation of Egypt's territorial integrity" and a violation of "international morality."

The board's statement called upon the United States to "do everything in its power to support" Egypt and to take measures to assure that "similar acts of aggression by any nation will not be repeated in the future."

"Neither considerations of domestic political pressures on the part of special interest groups nor adherence to misguided policies of traditional allies should be allowed to interfere with our clear duty," the statement declared. It was signed by Dorothy Thomson, president of the group.
