PLOT TO OUST NASSER REPORTED BY ISRAELI
New York Times (1857-Current file); Jun 8, 1967; ProQuest Historical Newspapers The New York Times (1851 - 2002)
pg. 13

PLOT TO OUST NASSER REPORTED BY ISRAELI

Special to The New York Times

PARIS, June 7—According to reports reaching here today from Israeli sources in Egypt, young Egyptian officers, deeply embittered and humiliated by the defeat of the Egyptian Army, are seeking the overthrow of President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer.

Observers here treated the report with some skepticism. They did not rule out the possibility of a deliberate effort by the Israelis to create confusion inside the Egyptian Government and start dissension in the enemy high command.

These observers were struck, however, by the apparent precision of the reports, which were believed to have originated with Israeli intelligence inside Egypt but which could not be confirmed from independent sources.

The Egyptian rebels, who were said to control the garrison of Ismailia on the western bank of the Suez Canal, were reported to be headed by Gen. Mokhtar el-Bassouki, the commander of the Ninth Armored Division, and Gen. Mohammed el-Shaibati, commander of the 53rd Armored Brigade.

They were reported to have made, or be contemplating, an approach to Gen. Mohammed Naguib, the father of the 1953 revolution that overthrew the Egyptian monarchy.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.